DETAILED ACTION

Examiner acknowledges receipt IDS filed 11/16/01 and 03/15/02; and response to restriction/election filed 06/17/03.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant elected Group I with traverse and requests of examiner to consider Groups I (claims 1-18) and III (claims 30-41) together because applicant argues that the subject matter in claim 2 of Group I is almost identical to that of claim 30, Group III. In consideration, examiner considers claims 1-18 and 30-41.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-18 and 30-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dariani et al. (US 6,255,325).

Dariani discloses a treatment regimen attention deficit disorder where placebo and methylphenidate are alternated (abstract, columns 3 and 4 and examples 1 and 2). A predetermined time as recited in the instant claims is any time. Dariani starts out the treatment evaluation with a placebo (column 7, line 8) while in the instant case, the treatment starts with a pharmaceutical. However, there is no showing that administering a pharmaceutical before a placebo provides unusual results. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to administer a placebo to a patient in need thereof and then methylphenidate. One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to experiment with administering methylphenidate and then the placebo with the expectation that the placebo would have no effect on the methylphenidate pharmaceutical.

3. Applicant and the assignee of this application are required under 37 CFR 1.105 to provide the following information that the examiner has determined is reasonably necessary to the examination of this application.

4. In response to this requirement, please provide the title, citation and copy of each publication that is a source used for the description of the prior art in the disclosure. For each publication, please provide a concise explanation of that publication's contribution to the description of the prior art.

5. The applicant is reminded that the reply to this requirement must be made with candor and good faith under 37 CFR 1.56. Where the applicant does not have or cannot readily obtain an item of required information, a statement that the item is unknown or cannot be readily obtained will be accepted as a complete reply to the requirement for that item.

6. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.
